

Have your say - initial views on a proposal to develop a special educational needs unit within St Augustine's Roman Catholic High School

October 2021

We are seeking your initial views about a proposal to create a special educational needs (SEN) unit at St Augustine's Roman Catholic High School. We want to assure you that we will give careful consideration to all your comments and opinions. We will use your feedback to develop our proposal ready to take to the next stage of formal consultation. This is a legal requirement in order to make changes like this to a school.

What are we planning to do?

The proposal is to create an SEN unit for between eight and sixteen children and young people with Cognition and Learning (and associated Speech and Language Difficulties) needs in St Augustine's Roman Catholic High School.

All of these children and young people will have education, health and care plans. Some of these children and young people will transfer from another school to St Augustine's Roman Catholic High School so that they can attend the SEN unit.

Children and young people attending the SEN unit will be taught in the unit for some of the time and at other times they will be taught with other children in existing classes.

All children and young people already on roll at St Augustine's Roman Catholic High School will still be able to attend the school and this change will not affect current admission criteria.

Why we are doing this?

- To give families more choice about the type of school they would like their child to attend.
- To make sure there is specialist support and enough special school places for all children young people with special educational needs.

- Existing pupils, whether or not they have special educational needs, will benefit from the specialist knowledge of staff working with children in the SEN unit leading to an overall improvement in the quality of teaching throughout the school.
- There is a particular need for SEN units in the Accrington / Burnley area.
